

Travel Reimbursement Policy

1. Purpose

This policy defines the process for business travel approval, expense reimbursement, and employee responsibilities.

2. Travel Approval

Business travel must be approved by the reporting manager before any booking is made. International travel may require additional executive approval.

3. Transportation

Employees should use cost-effective transportation options. Airfare, rail tickets, taxis, ride-sharing, mileage, and public transportation may be reimbursed when business-related.

4. Accommodation

Hotel bookings should follow the company's approved accommodation guidelines and reasonable nightly spending limits.

5. Meals and Incidentals

Reasonable meal expenses incurred during approved business travel are reimbursable within the daily allowance specified by Finance.

6. Required Documentation

Employees must submit original receipts, invoices, boarding passes where applicable, and a completed expense report through the expense management system.

7. Reimbursement Timeline

Approved claims are typically reimbursed within ten business days after Finance verification.

8. Non-Reimbursable Expenses

Personal entertainment, alcohol, traffic fines, personal shopping, and expenses without supporting documentation are generally not reimbursable.

9. Related Policies

Refer to the Expense Policy, Employee Handbook, Procurement Policy, and Code of Conduct for additional guidance.

10. Responsibilities

Employees must submit accurate claims promptly, while managers and Finance ensure policy compliance and timely reimbursement.
